2022 ANNUAL REPORT

Our mission is to create and promote Japanese and American friendships. We do this through business, social, educational and cultural activities. We are the only organization in Chicago that touches all of these areas in American and Japanese relationships.

The Japan America Society of Chicago is a non-profit association made up of individuals and corporations interested in United States-Japan business, cultural, political, and social relations. Founded in 1930 to foster mutual goodwill and friendship between the people of Japan and the United States, the Society enjoys a total membership of over 150 American and Japanese corporations and over 600 individuals throughout Chicago-land and the Midwest. The Society sponsors over 50 public affairs and cultural programs annually, including business luncheons, evening lectures, cultural events and social/networking opportunities. All members receive discounts on program registration and invitations to special member-only events. The Society also has a Young Professionals Committee that organizes various evening lectures and social outings throughout the year for members in their twenties and thirties. In addition, the Society offers over six levels of Japanese and English language courses. For membership information and other inquiries visit www.jaschicago.org or contact the Society office.

October 2022

Dear friends,

It has been more than a year since I arrived in Chicago and received a warm welcome from the Japan America Society of Chicago (JASC). I have been fortunate to be given the opportunity to work closely with JASC. Their work has been indispensable in promoting Japan-U.S. relations in the Midwest region.

JASC has accomplished a great deal this year. JASC has hosted many informative webinars on various topics, such as Japan's national security, economy, and culture. Since April, JASC has hosted a series of "Journey to Tohoku" webinars, which explored the attractions of all Tohoku prefectures in Japan, including those severely affected by the Great East Japan Earthquake in 2011. These webinars shed a light on diverse aspects of Japan and helped promote a greater understanding of Japan in the U.S.

JASC also hosted the 2022 Illinois Japan Bowl, where young students competed in demonstrating their knowledge of Japan and the Japanese language. Organizing these youth programs and activities is important because the younger generations are the future of Japan-U.S. relations, and I appreciate JASC's role in nurturing their interest and knowledge of Japan.

This year, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Japan announced that the previous JASC President, Mr. Dave Johnson, was a recipient of the Foreign Minister's Commendation. Since his appointment in 2016, Mr. Johnson served as the position of the President for six years. Under his leadership, JASC hosted numerous events, such as the 2016 Anniversary Celebration Dinner where Ambassador J. Thomas Schieffer spoke on Japan-U.S. trade relations, and the 2017 Anniversary Celebration Dinner where Nobel Prize laureate Dr. Ei-ichi Negishi of Purdue University spoke about his personal history. In spite of COVID-19, JASC has continued to expand its programs and activities by swiftly adapting to hosting events virtually. Distinguished individuals like Mr. Johnson are essential to the growth and prosperity of the extraordinary partnership between Japan and the United States. This is why I would like to thank all JASC members for their continuous dedication to Japan-U.S. relations. I also would like to take this opportunity to welcome the new JASC President, Dr. Bradley Hamm. I look forward to continuing working together with Dr. Hamm and other JASC leaders, including Chairman Stephen Potter and Executive Director Mitsukuni Baba.

The past two years have been a challenge for all of us, but the future looks bright. I personally believe in the importance of in-person communication, especially on the international level. I am delighted that we are gradually getting back to our normal lives and have more chances to interact with each other at in-person activities and events. Likewise, I was glad I could meet with some JASC board members in-person in April and have a fruitful discussion on our continued cooperation. On October 11th, the Government of Japan loosened its border restrictions and visa exemption arrangements resumed. With this change, I hope that we will see even more active business and cultural exchanges as well as general people-to-people interactions between Japan and the United States.

The year of 2023 will mark the 50th anniversary since Osaka and Chicago became Sister Cities in 1973. In 2025, Osaka and the Kansai area will host the World Expo with the theme "Designing Future Society for Our Lives." With these exciting events ahead, I strongly believe that we can overcome the remaining challenges of the pandemic and deepen the Japan-U.S. friendship even more. JASC has already done so much in promoting Japan-Chicago and Japan-U.S. relations. My office and I are looking forward to continuing working with you for the bright future.

Sincerely,

November 2022

Dear friends,

Congratulations to the Japan America Society of Chicago for another tremendous year. Our staff and members have adjusted well over the past few years of the pandemic to enable us to provide high level programming to the Chicago community.

We are pleased to report that, despite the pandemic, our membership has continued to be strong throughout 2022. We want to express our sincere gratitude to our corporate and individual members and sponsors, whose financial support has enabled us to carry on during these difficult times.

The Board of Directors is strongly committed to our mission, and I thank all directors for their many contributions to our Society. I especially want to thank outgoing directors and welcome our new class of incoming directors. I thank them all for their willingness to serve and share their time and talents in pursuit of our goals.

The Society remains committed to providing our members and the general public with a wide variety of programs and events. With a dedicated and energized board, sound finances, loyal members, an excellent staff and continued support of the Consulate-General of Japan in Chicago as well as others, we are pleased to embark on the coming year with continued optimism.

I would like to recognize the extraordinary leadership by president Dave Johnson since 2016. He has devoted many hours, especially during the pandemic, to keep this group working effectively toward its mission. I also want to welcome our new president Brad Hamm as he begins his new role.

Thank you to our members and donors for your generous support and to our directors and governors for your valuable service. I am proud to be associated with the Japan America Society of Chicago, and I look forward to working with all of you in the year ahead.

Sincerely,

November 2022

Dear Society members,

As the new president of the Japan America Society of Chicago, I want to thank each one of you for your role in making our organization stronger. Since 1930, JASC has fulfilled its mission to foster understanding and create and promote friendships between Japanese and Americans. Our history is strong, and our future work is important and exciting.

My family matches the mission in a personal way. My wife, Hiromi, is from Osaka. Our 12-year-old son, Yoshiki, goes to school in both Japan and America. Individually, we are American, Japanese and Japanese American. Together, we work with groups in Japan and America, plus help students travel abroad each year to learn more about Japan.

Since March 2020, all of us have learned to adapt to a new world based on Covid. JASC has thrived with a move to online programming. Our tremendous staff, Mitsukuni Baba, Erika Kono and Rachel Van Wieren, have worked hard to maintain the quality and quantity in programs on cultural, economic, business and political affairs. Thank you to our staff for their important roles in supporting our mission.

Our members and friends keep this Society vital in Chicago and beyond, and we appreciate your support and involvement. Membership is one of our top goals each year, and we have held steady during the months when we have met virtually for the many programs. We look forward to in-person activities in the coming year.

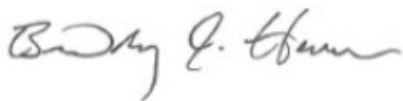

Many corporate and individual members provided direct financial support of JASC in 2022, and we are very thankful for your generosity. In recognition, we have listed our annual program sponsors, 90th Anniversary sponsors, individual program sponsors, corporate members and donors in this report. We ask you to note the corporations and individuals who have been so generous to our group. This funding is critical to helping us fulfill our mission.

Our directors and governors guide the Society through participation on committees and many other voluntary efforts. We are fortunate to have the insight of our chairman Stephen Potter, chairman emeritus Michael Moscow and honorary chairman Hiroshi Tajima, the Consul-General of Japan in Chicago.

We partner with excellent organizations including the Consulate-General of Japan in Chicago, the Japan External Trade Organization, the Japanese Chamber of Commerce and Industry of Chicago, the Chicago Council on Global Affairs and others.

As we end this year by celebrating at our Bonenkai, we can be thankful for all that has been accomplished in 2022 and the exciting new year for JASC.

Sincerely,

Bradley J. Hamm, PHD

LEGACY SOCIETY

PLANNING YOUR ESTATE AND SUPPORTING THE JAPAN AMERICA SOCIETY OF CHICAGO

In increasing numbers, members and friends of the Society are creating legacies with us through planned gifts made during their lifetimes and through their estates. Gift planning integrates charitable giving into a donor's overall financial, tax, and estate planning to maximize benefits both for the donor and for the Society. Examples of planned gifts include bequests, life-income gifts, gifts of real estate, and gifts of retirement plan assets. The Society has been named in a number of planned gifts and this will provide crucial support toward the future health and well-being of the Society.

Message to the recipients of the Award:

I take my pride in having been a resident of the land of Abe Lincoln and the birthplace of atomic energy. It is gratifying that I am now able to return a little bit to the place which made me happy.

In my early childhood, I learned the pleasure of playing with gadgets. Thomas Edison was my hero.

As I grew up, I got into the habit of trying to figure things out by myself. One little success added to my self-confidence, and soon it led to another.

You should consider the award you got just as a beginning. Be ambitious. Better things will follow if you keep trying.

AL & MARY KOGA*JAPANESE AMERICAN PHOTOGRAPHER/ARTIST

The Japan America Society of Chicago would like to acknowledge and deeply thank the Al & Mary Koga trust fund for their generous contribution. The Koga's legacy is a tribute to the continued friendship between the U.S. and Japan.

Mary's interests and intellectual curiosity were legion. Her greatest love, and requited at that, was her service with the Japan America Society of Chicago. Her unlawful imprisonment in a detention camp for the Japanese Americans during World War II resulted in a leadership role in resuscitating in the post-World War II era the Society, a membership association which fosters mutual friendship and understanding between the peoples of Japan and the United States. The Society was established in 1930 to foster the good-will mission, but disbanded early in 1942 with the outbreak of the war between Japan and the U.S. in 1941. However, the Society retained its legal entity, and the likes of Mary and Al Koga, her devoted husband, in concert with others, revived the Society in 1958. This achievement was crowned by a 1962 visit to Chicago by Crown Prince Akihito and the Crown Princess, affectionately referred to at the time, as Michiko-san.

The ensuing 45-year history of the Japan America Society of Chicago after its restoration in 1958 can be characterized as the Mary Koga era. She held a seat on the Board of the Society and participated in the formulation of policy to ensure membership growth. Above all, she provided leadership for a nascent Women's Board, whose mission was to bring together the spouses of Japanese and American executives in a mutually productive and fruitful relationship.

Wherever you may be, Mary and Al Koga, your progeny in the Society hail you. We will never forget your dedication and kindness.

Message by Foreign Minister MOTEGI Toshimitsu on the Occasion of Ninetieth Anniversary of the Establishment of the Japan America Society of Chicago

March 13th, 2020

I would like to extend my heartfelt congratulations to the Japan America Society of Chicago on the 90th anniversary of its establishment.

Today, Japan and the U.S. have become allies strongly united by the bonds of universal values such as freedom, democracy, human rights, and the rule of law. As such, both countries are the best partners in the Indo-Pacific region. Friendship, goodwill, and mutual understanding between the people of our two countries are the cornerstone of this unwavering Japan-U.S. Alliance.

Since its establishment in 1930, the Japan America Society of Chicago has played a vital role in deepening mutual understanding and connecting the hearts of the people of our two countries through a wide range of activities, including seminars, symposiums, lectures, and Japanese language classes. I would like to express my sincere respect and gratitude for the daily efforts of each member of the Japan America Society of Chicago.

This year marks the 90th anniversary of the Japan America Society of Chicago's establishment, and it is also the 60th anniversary of the Japan-U.S. Security Treaty. In addition, the Japan-U.S. Trade Agreement and the Japan-U.S. Digital Trade Agreement entered into force in January this year.

These agreements will further expand our bilateral trade. We would like to utilize this momentum, together with you, to further strengthen the Japan-U.S. Alliance, and play a leading role in ensuring peace and prosperity of the Indo-Pacific region and around the world based on our robust Alliance.

Last, but certainly not least, I would like to once again congratulate the Japan America Society of Chicago for its 90th anniversary, and wish the Society great and continued prosperity, looking ahead to its 100th anniversary.

On behalf of the Government and the people of Japan, I would like to express my heartfelt congratulations to the Japan America Society of Chicago on the ninetieth anniversary of the founding of this esteemed and historic institution.

Since it was established in 1930, the Society has served to build and strengthen the pillars of the Japan-U.S. relationship, adhering to its original Charter which stipulates the Society's mission to create better understanding between our two countries through cultural and business activities. They have made great achievements even during the most difficult times and amidst transformational periods in history.

The Society has witnessed firsthand the development of the Japan-U.S. relationship in the past nine decades. Even when they were compelled to suspend activities in 1942, these foundational principles endured, leading to the Society's reinstitution in 1958. In the mid-1990s, the recession in Japan took a toll on the Society's membership and finances, but thanks to the passionate efforts of your dedicated members, it is strong and growing again. I have the deepest appreciation and utmost respect for all the Society has done over the past years to overcome these trials and bring us all together in mutual understanding.

Now, Japan and the United States have grown to become very close allies sharing common values. I pay tribute to the Society for its leading role in the cultivation of relationships and mutual understanding, which are essential foundations of the bridge between our two countries. Thanks to you, the Japan-U.S. alliance is steadfast — bound by trust and friendship. While traveling throughout the United States as a Japanese envoy, including in the Midwest, I have found that efforts to build this relationship must begin with a strong foundation built on grassroots exchange and personal connections like the ones fostered by the Society. Without you, the Japan-U.S. friendship would not be where it is today.

The Japan America Society of Chicago has tirelessly endeavored to deepen ties between Japan and the United States through a variety of extraordinary initiatives. Through programs like the Illinois Japan Bowl and the Nambu Award, the Society has continuously planted the seeds of friendship in local communities. Your many efforts bring young people together to share their passion for Japan, and have helped cultivate a new generation of leaders in Japan-U.S. relations.

Having reached such a remarkable milestone, allow me to thank you for all the hard work and effort that has gone into making this unique organization thrive. I am truly grateful for your continued efforts, and look forward to working together in the years and decades to come to build on the Society's incredible legacy of strengthening the Japan-U.S. friendship.

Congratulations to the Japan America Society of Chicago on the 90th anniversary of its establishment.

Since my arrival in October, I have been amazed by the work that the Japan America Society of Chicago does here in this fine city. The Society has been integral in forming the Japan-Chicago relationship what it is today. Having an organization such as this one provides the foundation on which the Japan-Chicago relationship stands. Through the ups and downs that come with international relations, the Japan America Society of Chicago has stayed true to its mission, to the great benefit of both Japan and Chicago.

The many events that the Japan America Society of Chicago sponsors, hosts, and co-organizes with other organizations help to represent the vibrant Japanese-American community here in Chicago, as well as highlight the Japan-Chicago relationship. These events are essential for our community, helping to develop grassroots exchanges that are key to the Japan-U.S. relationship. The Illinois Japan Bowl is a prime example for fostering a keen interest in Japan among the next generation in the community. It is encouraging to know that some of the best and brightest minds of the next generations are interested and invested in Japan-U.S. relations.

The relationship that Japan and the United States share reminds me of the new Japanese era, Reiwa. Reiwa means "beautiful harmony", and the harmony that our two countries share now would not be possible without organizations such as the Japan America Society of Chicago. I would like to offer my sincere appreciation to you for all of your hard work the past 90 years and hope the next 90 years as an organization will be even more productive and relevant for Japan-U.S. relations. I look forward to working with you to make it a reality.

The Japan-U.S. alliance has never been stronger. The alliance has also never been more essential to maintaining peace, stability, and prosperity in the Asia-Pacific region.

Sincerely,

Kenichi Okada
Consul-General of Japan in Chicago
